

Klove is a very important part of my families life as I know it is for all others who listen to it or other Christian radio stations. We learn how to live a godly life in a world made by God but run by humans that have free-will to run the world how they want (Christians and non-Christians). Both Christians and non-Christians make mistakes and don't always do what is right but the Christian radio stations help to keep people on track and re-vitalized. I found this most helpful for me and my husband and now 7 yr old daughter that went through the death of one of our parent/grandparents 4 years ago. I was having panic attacks and depression that medicine alone was not fully taking care of and it wasn't until I found a Christian counselor that helped me to see that with medicine and God I could get through anything. Christian radio is one way to link to God at anytime for people in all walks of life. In this busy world we can't just pick up our bible and read, but Christian radio can do it anytime and anywhere for anybody that is searching.

An advisory board would allow non-Christians to limit the freedom of speech for Christians somewhat like God and prayer being pulled from schools except they can just turn the radio station and not listen to it...so what is the harm?

Additional staffing would cause many Christian radio stations that are entirely listener supported and already struggling to go under completely.

Giving new LPFM stations priority would knock existing translator stations to no longer carry Christian radio stations such as KLOVE.

Please allow this country to continue to run as "One nation under God indivisible with Liberty and Justice for all" and allow us all to continue to have freedom of speech as our forefathers set up.
